CREAM OF NEWS.

IF IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

A Colored Boy Drowned--Triplets Near Fairview--Dr. Clardy to Speak--Arm Broken--Other Local Matters.

It is Now "Boss Gary."

Mr. Chas. R. Long, Chairman of the State Central Committee, has appointed the following new committeemen in this county to fill vacancies:

Geo. E. Gary, committeeman for Hopkinsville No. 4 and also chairman of the County Executive Committee, vice Chas. M. Meacham, who resigned on account of the incompatibility of that position and the place of District Executive committeeman to which Mr. Meacham was elected recently.

Alex Fritz was appointed in Perry's School House district in place of T. W. Carroll removed from the district and W. D. Cooper was appointed at Lafayette vice C. B. Fraser resigned.

Under the new rules of the Democratic party, new committeemen will be elected all over the State the first week in October. In the cities the members will be chosen Oct. 1, in a primary election held at the registration polls for each district. In other districts at mass conventions held Saturday Oct. 5, at 2 p. m. The committee thus chosen will meet and organize immediately after the November election and qualify for a term of four years.

Louisville Races.

What with the races, the Grand Army Encampment, and other big attractions, Louisville offers a superlative inducement to visitors this month and next. The greatest attraction up to September 11th is the Fall Races of the New Louisville Jockey Club. The meeting begins Saturday, August 24th, and continues for eighteen days. All the crack horses of the West, numbering over 800, will be there, and some of the greatest races ever seen in Kentucky will be witnessed. There will be five or more races each day with liberal added money, insuring large fields and exciting contests. Thousands of visitors who expect to attend the Grand Army Encampment will go to Louisville a few days ahead of the old veterans in order to take in the races and avoid the crush that will begin on September 11th.

All the railroads have made special rates for the races and it is expected that quite a big delegation will leave here to attend the meeting.

Want Dr. Clardy to Speak.

Congressman Jno. D. Clardy has received a request from the Democratic State Campaign Committee to enter the canvass for the Democratic State ticket and has consented to make speeches wherever the committee desires to send him. Dr. Clardy has for a number of years taken an active part in state campaigns and his speeches greatly strengthen the party wherever he is heard. He does not know in what sections his services will be called for, but he will doubtless be assigned mostly to his own and adjoining districts in Western Kentucky.

Colored Boy Drowned.

Richard Shelby, a colored boy ten years old, was drowned in the river above Huffman's mill, east of town, Monday afternoon, while wading in the water. There was a deep place and the boy slipped into the water beyond his depth and as he could not swim was drowned before he could be rescued by his older companions, who were swimming. The body was recovered and Coroner Allensworth held an inquest. A verdict of accidental drowning was returned.

"Slinger" Was Shot.

Yesterday morning two negro toughs known as "Slinger" and "Chinch Bug" had a row down on dog alley, and Slinger was shot and slightly wounded. His injury was not sufficient to take away "Slinger's" appetite for watermelon, as he was able to sit in a wagon and eat one shortly after it occurred.

Three of a Kind.

The wife of Geo. W. Brown, of Laytonsville, in this county, on the 13th inst., gave birth to triplets. All three of them were girls and two are living and doing well. The third was dead. Mrs. Brown is a daughter of Mr. Jas. V. Forbes and is a young woman in her twenties. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were married about a year ago.

His Arm Was Broken.

Ellis McKee, the 11-year-old son of Mr. L. H. McKee, fell while riding on the back of a buggy yesterday, and broke one bone of his right arm. He will not be laid up.

Remember Senator Blackburn will speak in Hopkinsville Sept. 5.

HENRY SULLIVAN KILLED.

Found Dying in a Field from a Gunshot Wound.

ELKTON, Ky., Aug. 13.—S. H. Sullivan, the well-known fire insurance agent, died this evening from the effects of a gunshot wound. This afternoon at three o'clock he left the city for his farm, three miles from town, taking his shotgun with him and saying he was going to the farm to hunt a little and would bring back some game for breakfast. At four o'clock he was found lying prostrate in a field on his farm gasping for breath. When friends reached him he was bleeding profusely from a shot wound in the left side. The shot entered his side under the arm tearing away portions of the ribs and lungs and causing profuse bleeding. He survived long enough to say that he shot himself accidentally while crossing over a fence. Friends came quickly and removed him into the farm house, where he died at 8:30 o'clock to-night.

Mr. Sullivan was forty-five years old, born and reared in this town and was ever known as a man of public spirit. He carried a life insurance for a large sum, and leaves a wife and four children. He was for twenty years a prominent fire insurance agent and well-known all over the United States.

Mr. Sullivan was best known in Louisville as assignee of the Columbian Fire Insurance Co., which office involved him in a tangle of litigation growing from charges preferred against him by Thos. C. Hindman, one of the company's agents and stockholders, but he was also widely known before he became connected in any capacity with the Columbian.

Mr. Sullivan was in Louisville last Friday and returned home Saturday morning. He was then in apparently better health than for some time past. He leaves a wife and four children, who reside at Elkton in an elegant home and are left well provided for. Aside from a well equipped stock and its proceeds they will receive something like $85,000 in insurance.

About two months ago Mr. Sullivan, who carried a $5,000 policy in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, took out $25,000 additional insurance in the same company. This is in the company represented by Mr. Biscoe Hindman, brother of the man who has been instrumental in the prosecution of the suit against Sullivan. Less than a month ago he took out a $20,000 policy with Cassaday & Lane, local agents for the National Insurance Company of Vermont. Besides this he had a $5,000 paid-up policy in the Mutual Benefit, a $10,000 policy in the Equitable of New York, $5,000 in the United States, $5,000 in the Equitable Life Association Society, which is payable to his family in installments of $500 annually for twenty years. In addition he recently had renewed a $5,000 accident insurance policy in the Fidelity and Casualty Company. He was in New York at the time the last policy expired and renewed it by telegraphing the agents here.

The local companies carrying risks on Mr. Sullivan's life have been in communication almost all day with their home officers over a suggestion of suicide.

Money in Trifles.

Some one has said that more money has been made of ingenious trifles than out of some of the most important inventions of the age. A great and expensive machine or article can be purchased by only the wealthy few, but the five-cent and ten-cent novelties, the little trifles, the needles and pins and things, everybody wants, is able to buy, and must have. Even such an insignificant article as a toothpick suggests the investment of a vast army of laborers. Some exceedingly fine inventions are used in the manufacture of these little splinters, and the money invested runs well up into millions. Toothpicks are used for many purposes besides the one that gives them their name. They are invaluable to the florist, and have their place in a great many household performances. As little skewers for boiled and stuffed eggs, and as splints to tie up broken plants, they are useful, indeed, indispensable, nothing seeming to answer so well. The day of small things is far from being despaired, and there are companies representing large capital that are constantly on the lookout for trifling inventions from which they may receive large sums either by purchase and manufacture or by putting them on the market and paying royalty. The latter item, however small, foots up a very considerable aggregate to the inventor, and there are hundreds of people in this country who are living handsomely on the regular income derived from some of these children of their brains.—N. Y. Ledger.

DEATHS.

DILLMAN.—Mr. H. C. Dillman died at his home in this city on the 13th inst., aged about 65 years. He had been in poor health for some time and his death had been expected for some days. Mr. Dillman removed to the city from the country a year or two ago and lived in the High street addition. He was a good man and enjoyed the respect and confidence of all who knew him. He was buried Wednesday by the Masonic Lodge, of which he was a member of long standing.

TYLER.—Judge John D. Tyler died at his home on Walnut Street on the 13th inst., in the 68th year of his age, after a long illness, of Bright's disease of the kidneys.

He was born Dec. 25, 1826, in Montgomery county, Tenn., and educated at Princeton, Ky. He began the practice of law in 1847, but soon abandoned the law and began farming on a large scale. He was married in 1847 to Miss Helen Harpending, of Caldwell county, who died in 1870. Later he married Miss Lizzie Moore, of this county.

He leaves two children, Miss Marie Tyler and Richard K. Tyler, with whom he lived at his handsome home on Walnut street.

Judge Tyler was a prominent member of the Ninth Street Presbyterian church and also a Master Mason. He was an honest, christian man, a devoted husband and parent, a true friend and an upright citizen.

Funeral services were held by his pastor, Dr. Nourse, and the interment took place in Hopewell cemetery Thursday afternoon.

NELSON.—Wallace Nelson, the two-year-old son of Mr. M. H. Nelson, died at the home of his parents Wednesday of bronchial pneumonia. He was a bright, beautiful little boy, the idol of his fond parents, who are overwhelmed with grief at his sudden death.

MATRIMONIAL.

WHITE-WHITE.—Mr. Wm. A. White, of Julien, and Mrs. Marian White, of this city, were married last night at 9 o'clock, in the parlor of the Hotel Latham.

Difficult to Understand.

From Newspaperdom.

In every community, it will be admitted, there are business men who do not advertise in any newspaper, notwithstanding the fact that they depend upon the public for support, and do advertise in some form or other outside the newspaper. They read newspapers themselves, see other men's advertisements therein in the same line of business, know that it pays them, and yet they do not.
